Attorney General John Ashcroft
US Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20530

Dear Mr. Ashcroft:

I'm happy to see the Federal Government has come to at least some decision to end the unjustifiably offensive and expensive anti-trust case against Microsoft Corporation. Three years of untold waste has been directed at Microsoft and we the tax payers incurred the entire cost. Quite frankly, had Justice spent the amount of money it wasted in this suit in anti-terrorist security several thousand people would be alive and working at the World Trade Center building.

The agreement arrived at after extensive negotiations with a court-appointed mediator is very unfair and only serves the self interests of the individuals and companies which brought the action as well as those political interests of the Justice Department attorneys and US politicians.

Simply, Microsoft has gone well beyond any legitimate or fair agreements to remedies. It's time the government accepted the terms levied against the company and moved on to other things. Let Microsoft continue doing great things for the computer industry which helps us all instead of hindering the company and as we all know harming the little guys – the employees and the consumers.

Enough is enough. No more federal legal action should be taken against Microsoft.

Sincerely,

David Morgan
